Today's Race Meeting Prospects

VIGILANCE FANCED FOR TYTAM HANDICAP "A" CLASS: NOW'S THE TIME DANGEROUS

SADKO SHOULD WIN WHITSUN PLATE: KING'S JUSTICE NOT FANCED

(By "MORNING DEW.")

The first half of the racing season of this year ends to-day with a programme of ten events. It will be generally agreed that most of the races are very open and it would not be surprising if some welcome dividends were to go into the pockets of successful punters. There is no getting away from the fact that the "also rans" of yesterday can provide as good and thrilling racing as the "top-notchers," and, therefore, the one thing to remember to-day is to back outsiders, whenever the odds are tempting.

The heavy fall of rain recently has given the course a good soaking, and, apart from the fact that the best ponies are debared from racing to-day, times are likely to be on the slow side.

The "tit-bit" of to-day's programme is the first section of the Tytam Handicap, over a mile. The race is very open and the chances of the candidates are discussed below.

WOTIN SELECTED FOR AUSTRALIAN RACE

The opening event is over a mile but one can hardly expect him to for "A" class candidates and it has drawn five entries, but as all five are also entered for the Whitsun Plate, it is difficult to know what is going to the post, the more so as two of the five entries are from the "Dunbar" stable and two others from the "Dynasty" stable. Sadko is the remaining entry and it seems here should win. Many feel that King's Justice should do well over this distance, but the pony will be running with fifteen pounds more than he was carrying on his last outing and on that account does not appeal. King's Bounty, on the other hand, is quite an attractive proposition and if sent out to take the lead will take a lot of overhauling. Cyclamen Bay will probably carry the Dunbar colours and owing to his recent disappointing performances, does not look like a winner. Sitting Bull will be kept for the Whitsun plate.

Hay and Corn Stakes.
The less successful subscription griffins will meet over this race for five furlongs and on paper at least, this looks like an interesting race. Helter Skelter at 152 pounds is sure to earn a good following and should be among the leaders at the finish, unless he falls a victim of the starting gate. A good few of the candidates entered for this event will be going out in a later race and I do not expect the field to be very big. Gold Bar should get very near in this race and on his running ten days ago, White Butterfly too, should do well. Whoopee used to be a terror over five furlongs and looks like a good bet for those seeking a long shot, especially for a place.

Juling Handicap.

The third race is also over five furlongs and is confined to "D" Class candidates. If Helter Skelter is kept over for this race, I should still select him as a likely winner. Adam and Amy both look good, but Adam finished in gloriously in his last outing and may not be such a good thing for this race as Amy seems to be. Glen Shee ran very well at the "Seventh extra" and should not be neglected in the betting. Sticky-past has it in him to turn the tables on the favourites in a short race, so keep your eye on him, if you happen to be looking for an outsider. Burgomaster, Jingle, Valley Hall are all worth backing for those looking for "outsiders."

Whitsun Plate.

The race here will probably see a field of four, and if Sadko is kept for this race, he should win. Sitting Bull is his biggest danger and if King's Justice is sent out here he may put up a good show, but one can hardly expect him to for "A" class candidates and it has drawn five entries, but as all five are also entered for the Whitsun Plate, it is difficult to know what is going to the post, the more so as two of the five entries are from the "Dunbar" stable and two others from the "Dynasty" stable. Second Tytam Handicap.

This is a very open race and I would certainly have plumped on Disorderly Conduct, but for the fact that the pony has always lived up to its reputation hitherto and there is no reason to think why he will behave better to-day. Bold General is a good pony for this race and if handled properly might even turn up a winner. Aden is not a bad thing at all and Bagou might get the remaining place.

Yangtze Stakes.
This is another very open race with perhaps the odds a little in favour of Don. Over a mile this candidate will be hard to beat although The Tiger (Frost) and Valorous (Heard) are sure to give him a good run. Champagne Bay is here too and another pony which might provide punters with a decent return in case he catches the judge's eye is Marquis Hall. If the race should be on the slow side, Marquis Hall has as good a chance as any other candidate.

I should not be surprised if a big dividend was paid on this race because opinion seem to differ as to what candidates have the best chances here. Imperial Hall is likely to get a place and might quite conceivably win. Krata Via may win to-day for the first time. Gold Bar, if kept back for this race, is sure to make a bold show and it would not be surprising to see him win. The Rainstorm has a sporting chance of carrying the race off and Battling Horse is another one that should not be forgotten. Just to show how open the chances are, here are a few more which might win this race: Black Velvet, Esk, Helvellyn, Swale and The Goat.

Hyang Ho Stakes.

The last race of the day should see a good tussle between Widnes, Wakefield, Mike and Street Singer. The last named is just about due for a win, but he will have a big job trying to shake off Widnes, who, I understand, will be ridden by Mr. Pan. Mike is a slow starter and takes about half a mile to warm up but in a mile a race he will not be far away. Wakefield is in good condition and may repeat his earlier victory. Dee, Tenorio and Tillicum, do not appeal.

CARD GAMES IN SIAM

Bangkok, May 29.—The Government has altered the law regarding card games. At present cards may be played without permit in private homes from noon to midnight. The new regulations curtail this to six hours daily except on Sundays when play from noon to midnight holds good. Bridge also may now be played without permit, but householders or clubs in which the game is played are not allowed to receive commission directly or indirectly from the game. Club bridge between members is now playable without a permit seven days a week between noon and 9 a.m.

AIR MAIL NEWS FROM LONDON
MR. STOBART'S PARROT
(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, May 18.
The death of Mr. J. C. Stobart, Education Director of the B.B.C., removes one of the most genial and the most inventive personalities of broadcasting.
Many were the innovations that he made to stimulate interest in Children's Hour when the radio audience was still small. One of his failures amused him greatly.
He purchased a green parrot, reputed to be a most eloquent bird, to talk to the children. But not a word would it say, though it was kept in a cage in the educational department for three weeks. Eventually it died, dumb to the last.
A more successful venture was the prize-givings, dropped when the number of child listeners made continuance impossible.

COVENT GARDEN OPERA
Londoners are still unwilling to believe the rumour that the Covent Garden Opera House may be demolished, for it is one of their oldest institutions. The first playhouse on that particular spot was built in 1732, and sheltered "The Way of the World." The second opened in 1790 with "Macbeth," and the present house started life with "The Huguenots" in 1898. It costs nearly 2,000 people, and the ramifications behind, as well as above, the stage are endless. No one who has experienced the vast heat of the "flies" can forget the seemingly tangled masses of scenic supports and spiral staircases. Although redolent of its period—it has a general atmosphere of the affluent fifties—Covent Garden has appeared unchanged for over 70 years. Even the immediate neighbourhood has escaped the house breaker for half a century or so.

WOMEN'S "TEST" TEAM
Should present negotiations be successful, a team of women cricketers from this country will visit Australia early next year to play a series of matches against the women cricketers of the Dominion. Preliminary conversations have already taken place here between the secretaries of the organisations which control the sport in the two countries so far as women are concerned, and the proposal is shortly to be brought before the Australian Women's Cricket Federation. It is considered highly probable that it will be agreed to and that arrangements will be made as soon as possible to select the teams and fix up the matches.

HOW PUBLIC BENEFITS
Success in this type of race now becomes dependent much more on the skill and judgment of the driver than was the case in the ordinary "round and round" race. That is as it should be.
If the public is to learn anything from watching race-driving—and there are many lessons that may be learned—it is in the method of handling a gear-box and of taking a sharp bend.
From the results the ordinary buyer may learn how far the gear-box and other component of the fast car will stand up to the strains which will normally be put upon them.

LESSON SERMON
FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONG KONG

"God the only cause and creator" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 4th.
The Golden Text was: "Great and marvellous are thy works, Lord God Almighty; just and true are thy ways, thou King of saints." (Rev. 15: 3.)
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Praise ye the Lord. I will praise the Lord with my whole heart, in the assembly of the upright, and in the congregation. The works of the Lord are great, sought out of all them that have pleasure therein. His work is honourable and glorious; and his righteousness endureth for ever. He hath made wonderful works to be remembered: the Lord is gracious and full of compassion." (Ps. 111: 1-4.)
The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spiritual causation is the one question to be considered, for more than all others spiritual causation relates to human progress. The age seems ready to approach this subject, to ponder somewhat the supremacy of Spirit, and at least to reach the hem of Truth's garment." (p. 170.)

LADY SIMON ON SLAVERY
Five Millions in the World To-day
"HUMAN CHATTELS SOME OF THE MANACLED"
(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, May 18.
Speaking on "Slavery" to a large gathering at the City Temple Lady Simon said she had found in many audiences she had addressed incredulity at her statements. But every word was true. "There are more slaves in the world to-day," she said, "than were freed by the British Parliament and the American Senate. There are at a low estimate 5,000,000 of these unfortunate creatures in the world to-day and their cry comes to you to help them to abolish this great crime. In Abyssinia, Arabia, Liberia, China, and elsewhere these human chattels, some of them manacled as in the old days, are marched down to the coast to be sold, never to see their families again—sold into a life of misery that ends only in death."

Sir John Simon's Address.
At the close of Lady Simon's speech Sir John Simon paid an unexpected visit. He said:—"We had a Foreign Office debate in the House of Commons to-day. I would like to say it is solely due to the kindness and courtesy of Mr. Lansbury and his colleagues, who knew of my difficulty and how much I wished to be here to-night, that I was permitted to perform that mysterious office known as 'winding up the debate' several hours before the debate actually came to an end. (Laughter.) When my wife has spoken on a subject she knows so well and we both have been so imprudent and foolish as to seek to add anything of mine. (Laughter.) But this great crusade of which she has been speaking, and for the centenary of which I am so proud and happy to think you have set aside this evening, is one of the most encouraging things in the present-day world. What does it mean? That 100 years ago, when after a whole life devoted to the battle William Wilberforce and his friends at length achieved success, they were gaining a victory, securing that our own British Parliament should do what it could in British territory to end this horrible evil. They considered the battle won when the Bill was passed into law. But 100 years ago it was little that even the most prominent and disinterested people could do to secure reform right over the world, and as had been truly said, this was one of the most really disinterested public acts ever performed in Christendom." (Cheers.)

22 WICKETS FALL
FOR 168
DERBY AND YORKSHIRE
COLLAPSE
(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, May 18.
Magnificent bowling by Verity, the young Yorkshire left-arm spin bowler, who was responsible for Derbyshire being all out for 61, and the dismissal of Yorkshire for 98 runs, were the features of some remarkable cricket at Hull, Derbyshire, losing two wickets for 21 in their second innings, finishing 24 behind.
Heavy rain had fallen in Hull on Friday, and in view of the early morning sun, A. B. Sellers decided, upon winning the toss, to send Derbyshire in to bat. His decision was justified.
Verity, who was practically unplayable, had the following remarkable analysis:
O. M. R. W.
13.3 7 12 6
Townsend was the only batsman to reach double figures. He defended with commendable resolution while his colleagues failed, and altogether defied the attack for seventy minutes while scoring 28. Half the Derbyshire side were out for 38 and, with the dismissal of Townsend, the last four wickets fell in two overs for the addition of only one run. The innings lasted only an hour and a half.
Mitchell Saves Champions.
Yorkshire lost Holmes, Sutcliffe, and Layland for six runs. Townsend got two of the wickets in one over, and but for a stubborn display by Mitchell, who received some help from Verity and Barber, Yorkshire might never have gained a lead on the first innings of 45 runs.
Mitchell stayed in for 21 hours while scoring 24. He was eventually beaten by a ball which broke from leg at least a (Continued at foot of next column)

SCOTLAND'S TRADE MISSION SHIP
Voyage to Northern Ports
3,598 MILES ITINERARY TO SEVEN CITIES
(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, May 18.
Scotland is likely to send out another trade mission ship this year. Canada was visited in 1932, and the Scottish Chambers of Commerce are now organising a trade mission ship to advertise Scottish goods and manufactures at seven Scandinavian and Baltic ports in August and September next.
The voyage has been planned with the object of giving Scottish trade the opportunity of taking early and full advantage of the trade agreement made recently with Denmark and the agreements at present being negotiated with Norway, Sweden, and Finland, which, it is understood, will be announced shortly.
Another factor which influenced the organisers is that a "British Week" is being arranged in Finland from September 4 to 11, when many of the shops in Helsingfors and other towns will stage displays of British goods, and the committee in charge of this week have approved of the suggestion that the Scottish Trade Mission ship should visit Helsingfors during the British Week.

Pro-Scottish Sentiment.
Further, it is pointed out that there is a strong pro-Scottish sentiment in all the Scandinavian countries, and the time is therefore opportune for a push being made for the sale of Scottish goods and manufactures in these countries.
Negotiations are in progress for the charter of a suitable steamer to act as the mission ship. She is well-known in the Indian passenger trade. She carries upwards of 300 passengers, and can accommodate between 80 and 100 exhibition stands of varying sizes.
In the course of the itinerary of 3,598 miles which is proposed the mission ship will visit Oslo and Bergen, in Norway; Stockholm and Gothenburg, in Sweden; Helsingfors, in Finland; and Copenhagen and Aarhus, in Denmark. The display of goods on board will be open to visitors for three days in each capital and for two days in each of the other ports—18 days in all.
The probable date of departure is August 15, and the trade mission will occupy 23 days if the ship sails from Leith, and 30 days if she sails from Glasgow.
Pipe Band Accompaniment.
The organisers stress the importance of the exhibition on board being made properly representative of a wide range of Scottish goods. A considerable advertising campaign will be conducted in all the countries to be visited, and a catalogue will be issued for each country. Interpreters will be available at the various ports, and on board stenographers will be available to exhibitors for correspondence and returns.
To add to the Scottish character of the mission it is proposed to engage a pipe band for the voyage, previous visits of pipe bands to Scandinavian countries having been greatly appreciated.
Details of the enterprise may be obtained from the various Chambers of Commerce in Scotland, or from the secretary of Glasgow Chamber of Commerce, 7 West George Street, Glasgow.

POLITICAL UNREST IN JAPAN

Seiyukai Party Want
Office

SAITO MINISTRY'S FATE
IN BALANCE

Tokyo, May 27.
With the fading of all immediate hopes of gaining political power, due to the temporary stabilisation of the Saito Ministry, discontent is brewing among the rank and file of the Seiyukai Party in the Lower House. The Seiyukai had hoped for the peaceful transfer of the Cabinet to itself following the publication of the statement of the May 15 affair of last year, which was to have marked the liquidation of the emergency period, out of which the present Government emerged.

Political developments since publication of the statement have gone entirely against the expectations and wishes of the Seiyukai and, much to the disappointment of the party leaders, the short-lived ministerial crisis, which was born out of speculation regarding the possible resignation of the Finance Minister, Mr. K. Takahashi, generally regarded as the mainstay of the Saito administration, failed. This was due to tactful handling of the situation by the Premier, Viscount Saito, supported by Prince Saionji, the only surviving elder statesman and imperial adviser, and the announcement of Mr. Takahashi of his intention to remain in office for the time being.

Fear of Disturbances.

Disillusionment resulting from this turn of affairs has caused a great rift among the Seiyukai, which has stiffened its attitude towards the Government and is contemplating to withdraw its support. At a meeting of party leaders on May 24, the matter was discussed and it was practically decided that the party should change its policy of friendly co-operation with the Saito Ministry to one of strict neutrality. It was further agreed that the tactics to be adopted by the party in accordance with its new policy and other details should be left to Mr. K. Suzuki, its president.

The decision of the party leaders, however, has not had the desired effect of mitigating the dissatisfaction felt by the rank and file of the party, who are now virtually split into two camps, one supporting the decision of the leaders and the other advocating the immediate severance of relations with the Saito Cabinet. In any case, it is predicted that, unless Mr. Suzuki should take steps in the near future, disaster will be brought upon the party, and should internal disturbances break out in the party, the fate of the Saito Ministry will be sealed in spite of the temporary stabilisation which it secured only a few days ago.—Rengo.

JAPANESE NATIONAL BONDS

HALF THE DOMESTIC ISSUE

Tokyo.—Interest is being aroused by the fact that more than half the total sum of domestic national bonds is now owned by banks. This fact, it is argued, claims serious Government attention in relation to its loan policy.

The outstanding balance of national bonds, domestic issues, at the end of April, totalled Y.5,690,354,000, an increase of Y.935,236,000 over a year ago. Of this increase Y.715,000,000 was underwritten by the Bank of Japan, and later sold to town banks in its open market operations to adjust currency circulation. Holdings at semi-government banks, commercial banks and savings banks have mounted considerably in the past year or so.

According to the banking statistics just released, the total value of banks, treasury bills and rice notes owned by these banks at the end of April was Y.3,025,263,000, an increase of Y.696,506,000 over a year ago. The above total of domestic State obligations, together with treasury bills and rice notes, make an aggregate of Y.8,000,720,000, so that bankers' holdings are equal to 60.3 per cent. If those owned by the Deposits Bureau, trust companies and life insurance companies are included, therefore, the total holdings of monetary organs will be Y.4,397,007,000 or 73.1 per cent. of the aggregate.

AIR SERVICE TO AUSTRALIA

Plans for Another Stage

KARACHI TO SINGAPORE

(Special Air-Mail Service)

May 18.
The Government propose to conclude with Imperial Airways an agreement for the early extension of the England-India air service to Singapore. This further advance towards the establishment of regular weekly air services in both directions between London and the principal cities of Australia, with extension by steamer to New Zealand, will be effected in stages. It is hoped that the existing service between London and Karachi will be extended to Calcutta in July, to Rangoon (Burma) about the beginning of October, and to Singapore by or before the New Year.

The terms of the proposed contract with Imperial Airways are announced in a White Paper (Cmd. 4915, 1d.) issued yesterday.

The agreement is to run for a period of approximately five years, beginning from the date of the opening of the Australian section between Singapore and Australia, and terminating on March 31, 1938, the date on which the existing agreement for the England-India service expires. In accordance with the terms of an agreement between His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom and the Government of India, the service between Karachi and Singapore will be operated jointly by Imperial Airways and an Indian company. The maximum subsidies payable for the Karachi-Singapore service, if the regular weekly service is maintained, will be on the following decreasing scale:—

	Rate Per Annum
For first year of the through service to Australia	£40,000
For second and third years of the through service to Australia	30,000
For the remaining period of the contract	20,000

These maxima are allocated in definite proportions to various sections of the route. The Government of India, the Straits Settlements, and the Malay States have undertaken to bear the cost of providing and maintaining landing grounds and other ground facilities, such as wireless and meteorological.

Rates for Mails.

The agreement provides that the rates to be paid for carrying mails shall be arranged between the Postmaster-General in the United Kingdom and the company. For the through mails between England and Australia (and New Zealand), Imperial Airways and the Indian company, referred to above will receive 24s. sterling per lb., and Australia 18s. sterling per lb. For mails between England and Singapore the rate will be 30s. per lb. This will enable the Postmaster-General to fix the inclusive charges to the public at 1s. per 10z. letter between England and Singapore, and 1s. 3d. between England and Australia New Zealand.

The White Paper adds:—"As for various reasons a simultaneous inauguration of the extension service to Singapore and of the new Australian service connecting Singapore with Port Darwin and the chief cities of Australia is not immediately practicable, it is proposed to bring an interim service into operation as soon as possible in extension of the present weekly London-Karachi service. This interim service will, in the first instance, be from Karachi to Calcutta, but will be extended later to Singapore. Special terms will be arranged for this interim service outside the main agreement."

An explanatory memorandum issued by the Air Ministry states that at the outset the air journey to Singapore will be made in 10 days, thus effecting a saving of from 10 to 14 days in comparison with the steamship service from England. A corresponding acceleration of travelling facilities to intermediate stopping-places will also be achieved. The memorandum continues:—

"It has been agreed with H.M. Government in Australia that the section between Singapore and the terminal station in Australia should be operated by a company promoted in Australia and subsidised by the Commonwealth Government. The Commonwealth Government has taken active steps to complete the air link to Australia at the earliest possible date, and tenders to operate the Singapore-Australia section are about to be called for. Before this service can be established the successful tendering company will have to obtain the necessary complement of aircraft and to set up, in conjunction with the Government, the ground organisation. It is con-

JAPANESE AIR FORCE

"PATRIOTIC" PLANES
NAMED

Tokyo.—An impressive naming ceremony for five "patriotic" planes, was held on the Haneda Aerodrome a fortnight ago. After Admiral Osumi, Navy Minister, received the planes, they were officially commissioned in the naval service. The planes were donated by teachers and students of secondary schools throughout the country.

It is expected, however, that this part of the route will be in operation, at latest, by the end of the financial year.

The Indian Company.

"The Indian company, referred to in paragraph 3 of the Command Paper will be called 'Indian Transcontinental Airways, Limited,' and Government of India, Imperial Airways, Limited, and Indian National Airways, Limited. Arrangements have been made whereby continuity and uniformity of policy and direction will be maintained in respect of the trunk service across India. Indian National Airways, Limited, is being established for the operation of feeder and other services in Northern India, and plans for operating certain of these services are already in preparation by the Government of India.

"For the section between Karachi and Singapore Imperial Airways and Indian Transcontinental Airways will each provide one-half of the fleet required for the service. The fleets of these two operating companies will be homogeneous and of modern type, carrying passengers and freight as well as mails. They will probably be Atalanta type aircraft. As large a proportion as reasonably possible of the personnel employed by Indian Transcontinental Airways will be Indian, and this proportion will be progressively increased as circumstances permit. Imperial Airways will arrange for the early training of a limited number of Indians in its commercial and engineering departments."

PARACHUTE JUMP RECORD

LONDON, May 31.

A new world record for a delayed parachute drop was made over Netheravon aerodrome to-day by John Trantum who jumped from a Royal Air Force plane flying at an altitude of 20,000 feet and fell 17,250 feet before opening the parachute. He drifted five miles before landing in safety.

Oh yes, I'm quite all right now

IS YOUR HUSBAND tired and irritable in the evening? Sanatogen would work wonders for him in these difficult days. Do not talk about "nerves" to him though, he would probably object to the word. But you will be astonished and pleased to see how—after taking Sanatogen for a few days—he picks up. He soon becomes like his old self again—strong and healthy happy at his work and willing to "go somewhere" in the evening.

"I would never have thought that I could get well so quickly and easily. It's all due to Sanatogen! And to think that only a few weeks ago I felt so tired and listless that I really thought I was getting old."

All those signs of nerves—and who does not suffer from nerves in these days—disappear like snow in the sun when Sanatogen is taken. For Sanatogen is made to strengthen weakened nerves—for more than thirty years it has been known over the whole world as a reliable revitaliser. It must do you good.

Start taking Sanatogen now. Your feeling of irritability and "nerviness" will soon disappear. Your appetite will return and you will enjoy sound restful sleep. You will no longer feel tired and run-down for Sanatogen will build up a reserve of strength in your body.

Start a course of this famous nerve-food today. The financial outlay is negligible—a few pence a day—particularly when you can win back health and youth.

SANATOGEN

The True Tonic-Food

As all Chemists

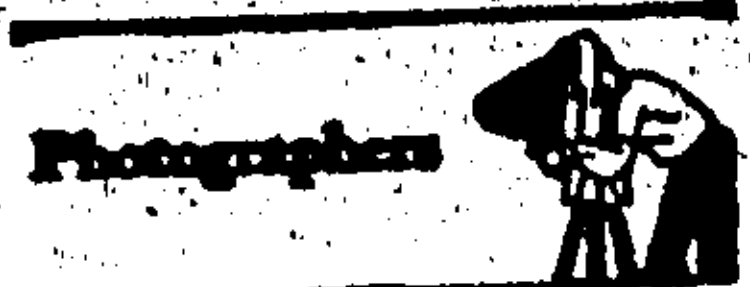

"Sanatogen is readily absorbed by the stomach and has an immediate and remarkable effect shown by a steady increase of strength and energy. At the same time the colour is brought back to the cheeks, written a splendid letter to the Editor of the Daily Mail."

FREE STATERS AS BRITISH SUBJECTS

Still Bound to Allegiance

LORD HAILSHAM ON OATH BILL

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, May 18.
Three problems of grave importance were discussed by the House of Lords to-day:

The consequences of the abolition of the Oath of Allegiance in the Irish Free State;
The situation in the Far East,
and

The action of Germany in the Disarmament Conference.
Lord Dunsford asked the Government for information as to the effect of the removal of the oath on the Irish Treaty and argued that the doubts thus created of the status of the Free State and its citizens in peace and war were of the utmost importance to this country and the Empire as a whole. Viscount Elihu asked to know whether Irish-born people in this country had become foreigners.

Lord Parmoor, from the Socialist front bench, made a mild recommendation of good temper all round and declared that nothing like the abrogation of the Treaty
had occurred.

Viscount Hailsham's reply for the Government was based on the statement made last week by Mr. J. H.
Thomas. He reiterated that the Government held the abolition of the oath to be a breach of the Treaty.

Nevertheless every citizen born
within the King's allegiance remained bound thereto. Nobody could get rid of that obligation.
If indeed the Irish Free State
ceased to be part of the Empire,
then a grave difficulty would arise
as to the status of Irish people in the United Kingdom.

After the Marquis of Salisbury had made gloomy comment on the disappointment of all the hopes and pledges of the Treaty which established the Free State, the House passed on to foreign affairs.

Japan's Defiance.

Viscount Cecil dealt first with the Far East. The action of Japan he condemned as deliberate defiance
of the whole process and machinery of the League of Nations, which they had hoped would make a barrier against hostilities.

He accused our own Government of failure to act either firmly or consistently. His own suggestion was that what had been done against Russia it would have been equally right to do against Japan.

On the problem of disarmament
he came to the general conclusion that though Germany was behaving badly, we should carry out our pledges.

Viscount Hailsham contended that in all the complications in the East the Government had acted with loyalty to the League of Nations. To Lord Cecil's suggestion of such measures against Japan as had been taken against Russia for the protection of British citizens he made the obvious retort
that the cases were not parallel and went on to detail the practical impossibilities. The procedure of Japan, however, he pronounced,
had left a grave slur on the efficiency of the Covenant of the League.

Turning to the questions of Germany and disarmament, he declared that the draft convention which the Prime Minister had laid before the Conference implemented the pledges
given to Germany. If Germany rejected the Convention she would reject the efforts made to give her the benefits of those pledges.

He still hoped that Germany would take up a more reasonable attitude. If she did not, it was not a necessary consequence that we should leave the Disarmament Conference.

He went on to make it plain that a German refusal of the Convention would result in a serious and difficult situation.
In his own opinion Germany would remain bound by the Treaty of Versailles and subject to the sanctions imposed by that Treaty.
On this grave note of warning the debate ended.

NEW JERSEY AND REPEAL

TRUSTON, May 17.
The State of New Jersey which,
at all times, supplies New York City with a large part of its alcoholic beverages, to-day voted overwhelmingly in favour of repeal of the prohibition amendment.

New Jersey is the fifth state to elect delegates to the state constitutional convention and the fifth to express its opposition to prohibition. Michigan, Wisconsin, Rhode Island and Wyoming, having already voted for repeal through the state conventions or elected delegates who are pledged to do so.

OF LORDS

NORWEGIAN COMPANIES'
APPEAL ALLOWED.

London.—A claim nearly £500,000
was involved in decision given by the five Law Lords constituting the House of Lords' Appeal Court.

The point in dispute was whether Unilever, Ltd., and other companies were bound to take the whole or only a portion of the whale-oil production for the season of 1930-1 of two Norwegian vessels known as "floating factories".

The lower courts found in favour of Unilever's, but the Law Lords allowed the appeal of the Norwegian companies and ordered judgment for damages to be assessed.

"WEEK ENDS ONLY!"

NEW JOAN BENNETT FILM

The novel vocation of a "week end girl" is the one adopted by Joan Bennett in her latest Fox Films vehicle, "Week Ends Only," coming to the King's Theatre. Discovering that she is penniless after her father's ruin in Wall Street
and his subsequent death, Miss Bennett gets a job in a speakeasy managed by her former butler, and from this point achieves her new profession.Miss Bennett, whose dramatic artistry has recently been enhanced with the discovery of her talents as a fine comedienne, is said to have ample opportunity in this production to display both qualities. Ben Lyon as a carefree art student and Joan Halliday as an amorous millionaire have the leading male roles and present an effective contrast in their rivalry.Halliwell Hobbes as the ex-butler who befriends Miss Bennett; Allan
Dinehart, Burton Churchill, Jon
Arledge and other film favorites are in the cast of this production.Interesting backgrounds abound throughout the picture. A luxurious lodge in the Adirondacks, a Greenwich Village studio, a mil-lionaire's home, an ocean liner and a speakeasy that is a faithful reproduction of one of New York's most exclusive and sumptuous resorts, serve as the settings for much of the action. Alan Crosland, who has turned out many successes
during his screen career, directed
"Week Ends Only" as his first Fox offering. William Conselman wrote the screen play and dialogues from the successful novel by Warner Fabian."DESTINATION

TENSE DRAMA AT CENTRAL

Slightly paraphrasing the old sailors' chanty, there were 13 men on a derelict's deck, and the cargo in the hold consisted of five thousand cases of rum. This is the tense situation aboard the sailing vessel
"Prince Rupert," drifting runner on which transpires all the action of "Destination Unknown,"
the Universal sea drama which opens to-day at the Central Theatre.
With their ship desperately crippled in a terrific storm, the 13 men on board engage in a ruthless battle of intrigue for possession of the stricken vessel and the ten gallons of drinking water which remain on board. The whisky in the hold cannot take the place of water, and the scant store
on board becomes the focal point of the plotting of a group of desperate and unprincipled men.And then a mysterious slow-away, known only as The Stranger, makes his appearance among the plotting desperadoes, and his presence brings about a miraculous change. An unexplainable thing happens—a thing so without the range of possibility that the men cannot believe their eyes.
Veritably, The Stranger was wrought a miracle. And while these events are taking place, a solitary woman hides below decks
in the cabin of a dead man, desperately in fear of the hands of vengeance.Pat O'Brien and Ralph Bellamy

known," which also includes Tom

PHOTOGRAPHERS' REPORTS

London, May 18.
Copies of the daily continuity reports made by the cinematographers on the recent Mount Everest flight have been received in London
by the Gaumont-British Picture Corporation, Limited. The reports show that even when the photographers were engaged in so historic an occasion as the first flight over Everest they did their routine work as if the event were an everyday occurrence.There is even a laconic touch in the report made on April 3, when Everest was surmounted. On that occasion the dramatic adventure was baldly chronicled by Mr. Bonnet as "Snow scenes over Everest in the sun."This bare outline of the great flight contrasts with the detail
which is furnished on the occasion of other flights. A continuity report marked "Nepal—on the road to Katmandu" includes the following entry:View of Pashpati temple from top looking down on to burning ghat and bathing ghat. The man who burns the dead is poking the fire, which contains charred remains of a body. Close-up of temple attendant with offerings of ping in the temple of Pashpati.

Shot of a Sadhu or religious ascetic telling his beads seated in

Whether short or long, however,
the reports indicate that an extraordinarily interesting film is in the making.MADISON SQUARE GARDEN"STAGE FRIGHT" AN ASSET TO MARION NIXONMarian Nixon's stage fright makes her one of the most desirable
young actresses in Hollywood.
That's the opinion of the various men who have directed her in pictures, and one shared by Harry Joe Brown, in charge of production of "Madison Square Garden," drama set against the background of New York's famed institution of that name and opening today at the Queen's Theatre and in which she is featured with Jack Oakie, Thomas Meighan, Warren
Hymer, William Collier, Sr., William Boyd and ZaSu Pitts.Like any amateur actor, Miss Nixon is thoroughly frightened every time she steps in front of the camera. Unlike amateurs, however, who lose their fear once they've got used to being in the public gaze, Marian's fright lasts.Its advantage lies in the fact that it's all internal. Never a bit of it shows through her characterizations, and she is noted for her apparent ease.Directors like her because they know the reason for her nervousness is the seriousness with which she takes her roles. She puts so much into them, they feel, that it brings her entire nervous system
to a high tension."Madison Square Garden," her latest film, deals with a group of people who slip briefly in under the roof of the structure, and then out again, their lives changed by the events in which they have participated. Like "Grand Hotel," and other one-locale films, it offers a kaleidoscopic view of many lives.Hopton, Alan Hale, and Rollo

SINGAPORE-BANGKOK AIR MAIL

Threat of Strike by Dutch Pilots

HOPE THAT NEW LINK WILL BE UTILISED

BANGKOK, May 24.

The threat of the Dutch air pilots to come out on strike at the end of June is viewed with some concern in Bangkok which has come very largely to depend upon this air mail for rapid communication with Europe, using the French air mail as a second line of communication. Everyone here in the commercial world hopes that the differences between the Dutch pilots and their directors will be adjusted to prevent any hold up of the services, and believes that friendly counsels will prevail. At least there is nothing of a lightning threat in the attitude of the pilots and crews, for there is a whole month of more in which negotiations can take place, and an equitable arrangement reached.

Although Singapore has been brought within eight or nine hours' flying from Bangkok once a week, the post office have as yet made no intimation of their willingness to close mails by the weekly plane, but one can send by air mail to Saigon, Rangoon and, of course, the Dutch East Indies, but in due season letters may be able to go by air mail to Singapore by Dutch planes. Those who remember the effort involved to get the Europe parcel mails landed at Penang and then trained to Bangkok, are not without hope that the new link in direct communication between Bangkok and Singapore will be utilised. For many years parcel mails came to Bangkok by the all-sea route via Singapore. There they stayed till there was an on-coming boat to Bangkok, and the time in transit from London to Bangkok varied from seven to eight weeks.

The First Air Mail.

The first letters from Siam to Singapore by air were sent as long as December 1919, when the late Sir Ross Smith made his historic flight to Australia from England. And as he stopped over at Singapore a night, two full days were occupied in transit. Now one breakfasts early in Bangkok, takes an aperitif at Alor Star and afternoon tea or something stronger in Singapore.

Air-minded people here are keenly interested in the Imperial Airways, forthcoming experimental flight from Rangoon to Singapore. The plane chosen, one of the big Atalanta types, has four engines and will be the first of her type seen at Don Muang. The builders claim that the placing of the engines in the wings renders travel much quieter for the passengers.

There is a general belief in flying circles that for some time to come the route from Burma to Maya will be by way of the established dromes and landing places in central and peninsular Siam and not along the coast from Rangoon via Victoria Point. Meteorological conditions, and aerial corridors for flying are points in favour of the through Siam route, as against the risks attendant on the journey up the west coast of the peninsula with its lack of communications and almost complete inaccessibility at certain times in the monsoon season. And it can hardly be expected in these days of depression that government can provide and equip two routes with landing grounds and safe anchorages, wireless communication, staffs, etc., for the journey Rangoon-Singapore, which, inside ten years, will be accomplished in a day's flying of ten hours.

A 12-Hour Trip.

With extra pilots on board the journey could be done easily enough now. The plane which left Singapore on May 13, at 6 a.m. landed at Don Muang at 2.30 p.m. half an hour being spent at Alor Star. It left Don Muang at 8 a.m. on May 19 and was at rest at Mingladon aerodrome, Rangoon, before 9 a.m. Allowing half an hour at Don Muang on the day of arrival from Singapore, the planes now being used could arrive at Rangoon before 6 o'clock—a twelve hour trip with two half of an hour each for refuelling.

At first, of course, Imperial Airways won't attempt to run even to present day Dutch schedules, but it is only a question of time before there will be nothing to choose between British, Dutch and French air services, beyond the days of arrival and departure. Tickets by one line will be equally valid by the other two. The fact that the Dutch are the quicker at present is solely due to the fact that they have been longer at work. Their pilots have got to know the route, and their ground arrangements are more perfect.

ANCIENT RITUAL AT PEKAN

Sultan Abu Bakar Installed

MALAY PAGEANTRY AT ITS BEST

KUANTAN, May 23.

Pahang's new ruler, Sultan Abu Bakar, was installed at a picturesque ceremony at Pekan yesterday. The ceremonies were attended by the High Commissioner (Sir Cecil Clementi), the rulers of neighbouring states and leading Europeans and Malays.

Sultan Abu Bakar succeeded to the throne on the death of his father, Sultan Abdullah last year.

In the evening the Sultan gave a banquet which was attended by Sir Cecil Clementi, General L. C. L. Oldfield, representatives of the Federal Government and the other states.

The booming of guns across the wide reaches of the Pahang River on Friday evening and again on Saturday morning signalled the arrival at Pekan of the Sultan of Pahang and His Excellency, Sir Cecil Clementi, respectively, and this morning all was ready for the formal installation of Pahang's new ruler, Sultan Abu Bakar, who came to the throne at the age of twenty-eight last year on the death of his father, Sultan Abdullah.

The ceremonies were marked by great dignity and impressiveness and were performed in the presence of the High Commissioner, the Sultan of Pahang who is Abu Bakar's father-in-law, and representatives of the M.S. Sultans of Selangor, Negri Sembilan, Kelantan, Trengganu and also the major and minor Chiefs of Pahang, the British Resident, State heads and district officers of Pahang, many unofficial residents of the state and a representative assemblage of Penghulus, assistants, Penghulus and religious officers from throughout Pahang.

The programme began with the bathing ceremony at the Astana Sri Terentang. This is the oldest and largest of the two royal residences in Pekan and stands about a mile inland from the river while the other residence, Astana Pantai, is on the riverbank. In the grounds of Sri Terentang a bathing pavilion or pancha persada had been erected. This consisted of a seven tiered structure built entirely by Malay artisans.

Lamps of Strange Design.

On these tiers were seated a number of Malay women with their faces towards the central platform. These women were dressed in white or pale pink and each wore a scarf of pale yellow thrown over the right shoulder. Each woman was tending a frame in which burnt a lamp of strange design like an antique candlestick. The path from the Palace to the pavilion was covered with white cloth and protected by an awning of the same material. On one side of this path over a hundred chiefs and Penghulus arranged themselves all wearing the kris but wearing it concealed the right to display the kris on court occasions being strictly restricted by Pahang etiquette.

Among the European spectators were Sir Cecil Clementi, General Oldfield, the Chief Secretary, and the British Residents of Pahang, Perak and Selangor. The procession from the Palace to the pavilion was a wonderful example of Malay pageantry at its best. It was headed by the Tengku Panglima Besar in a deep red costume with the bearer of the "chogan" a broad-bladed spear which is the principal royal emblem of Pahang immediately behind him and also two bearers of the spears known as "lembing pengapit chogan." Next came the Sultan, Abu Bakar, a dignified figure in a costume of deep maroon, followed by his umbrella bearer and kris bearer. He was followed by the royal bodyguard comprising four bearers of swords two sheathed and two unsheathed, and twenty spearmen wearing uniforms of yellow baju, black sarong and white trousers. Behind this bodyguard came the royal consort, the Tengku Puan, who was supported on the right by the Tengku Ampuan of Johore and on the left by the Tengku Permaisuri of Perak.

32 Women Attendants.

These ladies of royal rank were followed by thirty-two women attendants who walked between a double file of men, the latter carrying closed umbrellas and wearing uniforms slightly different to those of the spearmen. All the men and women attendants in the procession carried yellow silk scarves similar to those worn by the women already on the pavilion.

The Sultan, his consort and her two royal supporters ascended to the uppermost platform of the pavilion, and also the thirty-two women attendants whose part in the ceremony was a very important one. (Continued on next Column)

NIPPON MARU GROUNDED

JAPANESE VESSEL ASHORE OFF POINT HONDA

San Francisco, May 23.

After hours of excited searching, the Japanese tanker Nippon Maru, which had called for help, was found grounded on a reef off Point Honda, north of Santa Barbara early to-day.

When the ship sent her first S.O.S. message, the Mackay radio stations were the only ones to intercept it. The message was repeated for ships at sea and shore stations. All broadcasting stations on the Pacific Coast were silenced waited for the position which the Nippon Maru had promised to give.

After some hours of waiting, the vessel indicated that she was off Santa Barbara Island, which is more than 100 miles south of Point Honda. The vessel was actually in Santa Barbara Channel but, while waiting for further signals, rescue boats were sent to Santa Barbara Island.

The coast is particularly dangerous near Point Honda, and many ships have been wrecked there, as well as at Point Concepcion, a few miles to the south.

The Nippon Maru had filled her tanks at the Ventura fields and was outward bound. She carries a crew of 35.

EXCURSIONERS RESCUED

Houghton, Mich., May 23.

After spending the entire night aboard a shattered and sinking excursion boat, more than one hundred persons were rescued to-day by the United States cutter Crawford, which had been summoned to Isle Royale, in the middle of Lake Superior.

The excursion steamer struck a reef on the way out from Washington Harbour, at Isle Royale, and the rush of waters into the engine room caused the boiler to explode. Five persons were injured by the explosion.

The boat was too far out to permit a rescue from the island and help was summoned from Houghton. Passengers were rescued shortly before the decks were submerged.

It is believed the ship will be worth salvaging.

The Sultan and his consort were bathed with nine kinds of holy water, this water being poured through a white cloth held above their heads and also being applied by hand. Meanwhile the women kept up a high-pitched wailing chant and the rhythmic beating of native drums provided an undertone for the strange and ancient ritual. The ceremony lasted over an hour but before it had finished most of the visitors had left to prepare for the ceremony of installation at the other and smaller place on the river bank known as the Astana Pantai.

Sir Cecil Inspects Guard.

After Sir Cecil Clementi had been received with the royal salute and had inspected the guard the whole group came to the larger balai and were seated on the raised central portion which constituted the throne room.

Then came the Sultan Abu Bakar and his consort from the palace in a procession similar to that seen earlier in the morning. The Sultan and his consort seated themselves on a slightly raised dais on thrones made of finely carved blackwood with gold ornamentation while Sir Cecil Clementi and the Sultan of Perak occupied chairs on the right and left of the Sultan respectively and at a slightly lower elevation.

A solemn ceremonial was then enacted in which several of the major chiefs took part, the main features being a reading in Malay by the Tengku Arif Bendahara, second brother of the Sultan, of the proclamation of Abu Bakar's accession to the throne then the Sultan's reading in Malay of his oath as ruler of Pahang and then his signature to this document and the signature of Sir Cecil Clementi and the British Resident. Then came the proclamation that the Tengku Puan in future would be known as the Tengku Ampuan, the proper title of the King's consort in Pahang and finally the paying of homage to the Sultan.

The installation ceremony closed with a salute of seventeen guns.

Throughout the morning the young Sultan and his consort comforted themselves with great dignity and composure but they must have been thankful when the programme was over for such a long appearance in public and the observance of such a complicated ritual and ceremonial must have been a heavy strain. In the evening the Sultan gave a banquet for a large number of guests including Sir Cecil Clementi, General Oldfield, representatives of the Federal Government and the other states and many officers of the Pahang Government. Members of the Consular Body, Captain Takashi of the Imperial Japanese Army and two officers from the French river gunboat Argus were also in attendance.

Among Naval officers present were:—

Commodore H. R. Marrack, D.S.O., R.N., Pay-Lt. Comdr. F. R. Porter, Secretary to the Commodore, and Comdr. J. E. Sismore, D.S.O., R.N., Staff Officer (Operations).

The March Past.

The march past was headed by three companies of bluejackets, followed by a company of Marines, next came the Chinese Sappers, then the Royal Artillery, followed by the Lincolns and Borderers. The Indian regiments came next, the Jat Pipe Band heading the battalion. Bringing up the rear were the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps, headed by Col. L. G. Bird and the mounted unit, while the Armoured Cars formed an imposing rear-guard. The band of the S.W. Borderers, drawn up in front of the Hong Kong Club, played the regimental airs as each unit passed.

The Colours were Carried by the Anzac Unit.

Representatives of the Royal Merchant Navy, St. John Ambulance Brigade, Boy Scouts and Guards' Association also took part. The units marched past His Excellency and staff in column of route, and made their way via Connaught Road to Queen's Road, where thousands thronged the pavements to view the march.

Verandahs, windows and even roofs of buildings fronting Statue Square were occupied, while the Hong Kong Club was thrown open to ladies, in honour of the occasion, children of members being admitted to the ladies' lounge. Later in the morning the King's health was duly proposed and enthusiastically honoured.

OFFICIAL BALL AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE

An official Ball was given on Saturday evening at Government House. Owing to the indisposition of H.E. the Governor, Lady Peel received the guests in the ball room. On the dais were, among others, Sir Thomas and Lady Southorn, Major-General and Mrs. Borrett, Bishop Valtorta, and Acting Chief Justice J. R. Wood and Mrs. J. R. Wood.

Following the reception, the guests spent a very pleasant time dancing, or in the bridge room, or on the lawn where the band of the Borderers sang and played an excellent programme of music. Lady Peel and those assisting her worked indefatigably to make the function an extremely pleasant one for all guests. A number of village elders were among those who attended, a party of most dignified men in their white and black ma kua. The grounds were illuminated with coloured lights, and hospitality was in full accordance with the tradition of Hong Kong Government House. Great regret was felt that H.E. Sir William was unable to be present, and everyone in the Colony will join in wishing him a speedy recovery.

DOCTORS OR TEACHERS?

Which Do Most to Mould A Nation?

DEBATE IN WAH YAN COLLEGE

A foreigner is always getting surprises in this mysterious East. These peoples, so different in every way from Occidentals, reveal at times very exceptional powers and abilities and aptitudes.

These thoughts are suggested by the most interesting debate held last Saturday, June 3rd, in the College Hall at Wah Yan College, on the theme: "That Good Teachers are more important to a nation than Good Doctors." The visitors present must have been surprised at the fluency with which these young Chinese expressed themselves, and by the clear thinking and skill in argument which many of the speeches revealed.

Wisdom or Health.

"The Government" speakers laid emphasis on the importance of a teachers' work in forming the minds and characters of the next generation. "Good teachers are promoters of morality and wisdom: good doctors are promoters of health. But morality is incomparably more important than health. Which would you rather have, a sick saint or a sound villain? It is only teachers who can make men civilized. When Solomon, the wisest man who ever lived, was offered the choice between riches, health or wisdom, he chose wisdom."

Now, wisdom is in part a natural endowment, but in large part a matter of instruction, of teaching. "The students of to-day are the masters of to-morrow. If they are well taught, they will make their nation great and strong; if they are ill taught, the state and the whole people will suffer."

The Opposition, on the other hand, pointed to the utility of learning without bodily vigour, and to the wonderful achievements (e.g. the Panama Canal) which have been rendered possible only through medical science. "The Norwegians discovered America before Columbus; but some time later six-sevenths of their race were wiped out by a great plague. If they had had good doctors, how different might have been the course of European and American history!" The appeal to sentiment, too, was very plausibly put: "Suppose your own parents lay dying: would you be interested in the great value of good teachers, or would you send straightaway for the best doctor whom you know?"

Our Poe-The Doctor! Some arguments were delightful, ingenious, e.g., "Doctors increase the population. Now, increased population leads to wars; therefore, doctors are responsible for killing people, rather than for saving life!" And, of course, the very effective retort: "We must remember that good doctors derive all their knowledge and power from their teachers!" Excellent speeches were delivered by Messrs. Cheng-Pook (Chi), Yee Shou, Sam, Aah-shan, and Kam Nok. As the voting, the teachers conquered the doctors by 13 votes to 9.

SIR THOMAS SOUTHORN

KNIGHTHOOD FOR HONG KONG COLONIAL SECRETARY

H.M. the King has conferred on the Hon. Mr. W. T. Southorn, C.M.G., Colonial Secretary of Hong Kong, the distinction of Knight Commander of the British Empire. Sir Thomas Southorn has been Colonial Secretary of Hong Kong since 1926, and, during that time, has four times acted for considerable periods as Officer Administering the Government. From the first Sir Thomas has to a very exceptional degree commanded the confidence of his colleagues and of the whole community. The last six years have been a time of the greatest stress and difficulty, and the tact, firmness and administrative skill of the Colonial Secretary have been in no small degree responsible for the satisfactory position in which the Colony now stands.

One of the most courteous and hospitable of men, Sir Thomas Southorn has been popular alike with all communities. A keen follower of the Turf, he is also an excellent exponent of lawn bowls, and a very genial skier. An indefatigable worker he willingly gives of his spare time to attending public functions, and he is specially in request as a witty after-dinner speaker.

The Colonial Secretary's Office knows, however, that behind this valuable work before the public eye lies a fine achievement of careful and capable administration. A capable chief is always respected and liked. Saturday's announcement led us to understand to an appropriate "celebration" in which the whole staff of the Colonial Secretariat joined.

The honour conferred on the Colonial Secretary has been received with general pleasure in Hong Kong, and acclaimed as extremely well deserved.

Sir Thomas Southorn, B.A. (Oxon), was born on August 4, 1879, and was appointed to the Ceylon Civil Service in 1903, and it has been in that Colony that the major part of his career has been spent. Following a first appointment to the Colonial Secretary's Office, he was acting Officer Assistant at Jaffna to the Government Agent, Northern Province.

He passed his first examination under the regulations of August 20, 1901, on April 13, 1906, and became acting office assistant to the Government Agent, North Central Province.

Career in Ceylon.

Appointed Acting District Judge, Tangalla, in 1907, two years later he became Landing Surveyor of Customs, Colombo. His first experience in the administration of the Colonial Secretariat was as Additional Colonial Secretary in the same year, and having passed his second examination, he was appointed Assistant Government Agent, Matale, in 1911.

In 1914, Mr. Southorn was Private Secretary to His Excellency the Governor, and Extra Assistant Colonial Secretary. In 1915 he was Deputy Collector of Customs, and Landing Surveyor, Colombo, and later in the year left Colombo on war service.

Returning to the Colony in 1919, he was appointed Second Assistant Colonial Secretary, also acting as Private Secretary to His Excellency. His appointment to Principal Assistant Colonial Secretary came in 1920, and on December 8, he was made Principal Collector of Customs and Food Controller.

In March, 1926, came the appointment as Colonial Secretary of Hong Kong, during which Sir Thomas, as already stated, has administered the Government on four occasions, while Sir Cecil Clementi and Sir William Peel have been on leave.

LADY SOUTHORN.

No tribute to the work of Sir Thomas Southorn would be complete without reference to the part played in the life of the Colony by Lady Southorn. As hostess at Government House, as Guide Commissioner, at the M.O.L. activities, and in numberless branches of the social and charitable life of the Colony Lady Southorn has taken a very helpful and gracious part. Beyond this she has been a friend to literally hundreds of people in the Colony, of all communities, always ready to help in any way that lay in her power. Sir Thomas and Lady Southorn have done an immense amount to break down barriers not only between the different communities, but among cliques and sections within communities. Lady Southorn has a most happy way of getting people to get together, to work at some useful task, and to find that they have a great deal in common and like each other very well. No one has accomplished more in quietly demolishing

LOCAL WEDDING

MR. A. G. BOTELHO AND MISS "TRIXIE" CHOA

The Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon when Miss Beatrice Patricia Choa, daughter of the late Mr. Choa Loop Choa and Mrs. Choa, of "Barnside" Robinson Road, became the bride of Mr. Arnaldo Guilherme Botelho, brother of Mr. A. A. R. Botelho, the well-known local gentleman-rider.

The bride, who was attired in a dress of white georgette and lace, made a very charming picture. She wore a crown of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of gladioli.

The Misses Pauline and Louise Choa, Miss Irene Gittins and Miss Mario Botelho made a very charming quartette of bridesmaids. They wore dresses of yellow and green organdie while the flower girls were the little Misses Patricia and Cynthia Lo and Betty Choa.

Mr. T. E. D'Almada Remidios discharged the duties of best man for the bridegroom while Mr. Robert Choa acted for the bride.

After the ceremony a reception was held in Club Lusitano when a large number of friends gathered to wish the happy couple good luck and happiness.

The honeymoon is being spent in Repulse Bay.

snobbery in Hong Kong.

Mrs. Southorn is the sister of the distinguished authoress, Virginia Woolf and has herself written a number of books. In Hong Kong, however, apart from active assistance to the English Association, Lady Southorn has sacrificed her literary work to the tasks so readily undertaken on behalf of other people. Perhaps some day Lady Southorn will give us the novel about Hong Kong for which everyone is waiting, showing quite fairly, with virtues, failings and lovable humanity, the life of the Colony.

MR. C. F. FRITH GETS I.S.O.

THIRTY YEARS SERVICE RECOGNISED.

Mr. Charles Edward Frith, formerly Chief Inspector of the Sanitary Department in Hong Kong, who retired from Government Service in April has been given the Imperial Service Order.

Mr. Frith had 36 years continuous service with the Imperial and Colonial Government and the honour now conferred on him will give great satisfaction to his large circle of friends.

Coming first to the Colony in 1895 Mr. Frith saw service in the China Station until 1903. He was in the Boxer Rebellion campaign of 1900 and the Crete operations of 1898, being later awarded the China Medal. Later he joined the Royal Naval Yard but it was not long before he changed into the Civil Service, entering the Sanitary Department as a third class inspector. He was promoted to second class in 1905 and first grade in 1908. It was after he returned from home leave in 1923 that he received his appointment as Chief Sanitary Inspector, which post he held until his retirement in April.

Mr. Frith is a first class rifle shot and took a very keen interest in the annual shooting competitions of the Volunteer Corps, of which he was a member. He has assisted the Volunteers in league contests, having been a member of the team which won the Bellios Shield for three years.

It was in 1924 that Mr. Frith was presented with the Long Service Medal.

CERTIFICATES OF HONOUR

TWO CHINESE RECIPIENTS.

His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to award Certificates of Honour to Mr. L. Yik Mui and Mr. Tam Wun Tong.

Mr. Li Yik Mui one of the recipients is a prominent Hong Kong merchant and has been associated with public affairs for the past few years. Until recently he was the Chairman of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, where his tact and ability enabled excellent service to be rendered by the Chamber to Chinese business organisations in Hong Kong. Mr. Li is not only well-known in commerce but also in Chinese social circles as well. He has been a very large benefactor to local Chinese charities and he is a member of the Committees of many local organisations interested in charitable work.

Mr. Tam Wun Tong is also a well-known figure in local Chinese circles. He is the head of an insurance business and has taken a very keen interest in the work of the Po Leung Kuk. It was mainly through his efforts that the very fine building that now houses the Po Leung Kuk came into existence and Mr. Tam's interest in the welfare of destitute women and girls was so keen that he personally canvassed donations with gratifying results. The honour that has now been conferred on him will give satisfaction to all who are aware of the unselfish character of the recipient and of the excellent work which he has accomplished.

NEW LETTER FROM KIENSI

Disorder and corruption. Rife

PART FAILURE OF OPIUM CROP

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Kienshi, May 16.

Life in this province is by no means dull for many people these days. The price of rice over a large part of the province is higher than most of the people can remember it ever having been. At present about $5.50 per bu. of about 60 lbs. Corn and wheat are proportionately dear. So it is a hard race to make funds in hand cover cost of more existence. Then the principal crop on which farmers depend for ready cash is opium. This year the crop is light and price low, so incomes are shortened. There is the ever present fear of robbers who specialize in gathering opium at night with a gun instead of a scraper. All in all it gives people much to think about. Then too the military despots are helping to complicate the problem of existence by their constant demands for more and more money, gathering more and more boys as soldiers compelling people to build for them great barracks, airplane fields, etc. In our little town the principal business houses in protest against demands for money which they said the state of business would not bear closed their shops for quite a while. But of course they must pay in the end anyhow.

Civil War.

The political situation goes from bad to worse. In January Wang Chia Lich drove out the adherents of, former Dictator Mao Kuang Chiang. Some of the defeated forces retreated into Yunnan, some into Szechuan, some held their position on the border of Hunan. Recently they have begun to crowd in on Wang's position in the centre of the province. There has been some fighting, hard to learn how severe, and it looks as tho' the enemy are getting ready to make a hard drive for putting Wang out of the province. Of course, they all pretend to be true to the National party and obedient to its organization of government in Nanking. But the real authority of Nanking is at the zero point.

The Boycott.

There is much talk about the outrages of the Japanese; but I guess there are few who are ready to waste their time on the subject. Of course, the boycott of Japanese goods is a fine field of profit for the schemers who make use of the poor school youngsters to carry out their plans. So far as I have heard their method is to hold up goods which they see fit to call Japanese goods and allow merchants to sell on condition the pay into the organization 40 per cent. of the proceeds. A merchant was telling me to-day that they fear to purchase goods because their irresponsible boys just seize on whatever they please and condemn it as Japanese, even tho' it has been made in China. Evidently there will have to be some settlement of this boycott question before long.

Press Gang Squeeze.

A few days ago at Anshuen I saw the soldiers quartered there playing a neat trick to raise funds. They laid hold of men on the street and accused them of being runaway soldiers. Of course the accused men were not allowed to get in touch with any one who could identify and clear them. They just had to pay what was demanded of them for release. This was being done right in the city. It beats the clumsy methods of Manchurian bandits who drag their victims off to caves, etc. No such fantastic sums could be demanded as there; but if you worked the scheme would furnish a good run of pocket money. When will China get some real government, I wonder?

HONG KONG, JUNE 5, 1933.

AFFORESTATION IN GREAT

EARLY in the present century the British Government was considering the advisability of taking steps for the replacement of the country's dwindling forests. The outbreak of the Great War, with its vast demand for home grown timber, made the position still worse, accounting as it did for the felling of nearly half a million acres of the best timber in the country. In 1919 the Forestry Act was passed, a Forestry Commission was appointed to deal systematically with the problem, and Parliament voted the sum of 3½ million to be spent on afforestation over a period of ten years.

Because of the limited extent of its area, England must of necessity to a large degree remain dependent on overseas supplies of wood. At present its import of timber is only exceeded in value by that of cotton and wool. The country imports nearly 45 million pounds worth of timber per year, while its own production amounts to only six per cent. of its requirements. England's contribution towards her own consumption might, however, be increased considerably, and if the financial aspect of the question permitted of such a venture, it is estimated that upwards of four million acres at present more or less unutilised could be put to afforestation. About three million acres, or rather more than five per cent. of the country's area, is now covered by forest. This area properly maintained and gradually increased by two million acres of conifers would, it is estimated, make England self-sufficient in an emergency as far as timber is concerned.

The Forestry Commission now controls some 602,000 acres of forest, situated mostly in the west of England, in Wales and in Scotland. Of this area 251,000 acres have been purchased, while the rest is partly held on lease and partly has been transferred from the Crown Lands. The Commission is naturally anxious to plant the largest possible areas with new forest, but land is dear in Great Britain and the Commission has generally had to content itself with acquiring land which is too poor for agricultural cultivation. Although this land is suitable for the growing of conifers, the broad-leaved species of the typically English landscape demand better soil.

One method adopted by the Forestry Commission to encourage afforestation is to offer grants, according to the species planted, of from £2 to £4 per acre planted by private owners. The result of this scheme has been the planting of 85,000 acres, apart from the Commission's own undertakings. Another scheme, consisting of the establishment of forest holdings, also benefits the unemployed. In some cases unemployed industrial workers have by this means been transferred to the land. Under this scheme holdings of ten acres or less are allotted to suitable applicants, with a guarantee of employment of not less than 150 days a year. Needless to say this scheme is a very popular one, but financial stringency limits the establishment of these holdings to between 15 and 20 a year.

The present resources of the Forestry Commission permit of planting about 20,000 acres per year. In addition another 10,000 acres per year are planted by private owners. This combined area maintains the present forest growth in Great Britain, but leaves nothing over as actual increase. When the call for national economy becomes less pressing, the Commission will no doubt be allowed to speed up this important work. In the meantime increasing attention is being paid to the utilisation of the vast resources of timber in the parts of the British Empire. It is estimated that no less than two million square miles of forest are to be found within the borders of the Empire, and of this area nearly half is accessible and contains trees which will supply useful timber. With the wider adoption of modern scientific methods of forestry and up-to-date grading, storing, and conveyance, there is here a source of supply sufficient for the needs not only of Great Britain but also of other countries who within their own confines cannot find the timber they require.

McLellan and Det. Sergt. Fitches from No. 2 Police Station, and Mr. Brooksbank of the F.W.D. who carried out a short examination of the premises.

Mr. B. A. Hyder, attached to the Indian Division of St. John Ambulance, rendered valuable assistance, while other police and fire brigade officers also did good work.

One applicant from Wanchai station stood by until the "all clear" signal was given.

As usual Fire Brigade and Police officers were soon on the scene and rendered what assistance they could. Among the officers present were Mr. H. T. Brooks, Superintendent of the Fire Brigade, Messrs. Fitz Henry and Cash, also of the Fire Brigade, Inspector (Continued on previous column).

Of the children, the elder girl was found to have sustained the most serious injuries and little hope was held for her recovery despite all that medical aid could do for her. Dr. Li Sung who lives in the next house was on the scene almost at once and after he had given the injured what treatment he could, they were sent to the Yeung Woo Nursing Home which is quite close by. From this place the injured were sent to the Government Civil Hospital.

A New House.

Being as it is a recently built house, it is rather hard to understand why the balcony, which was apparently very solidly constructed, should "fold over" in the manner it did. The only explanation offered was that the heavy downpour on Friday afternoon might have to a certain extent, saturated the "base" of the balcony and weakened it so much that it could not stand the weight of four people.

The house is occupied by Mr. Kwok Wei Sam who was out at the time. When asked how the accident happened, the people in the house could make no statement beyond the fact that they were mostly asleep and were awakened by a loud crash, and when they rushed out to see what had taken place, they were greeted with the unpleasant sight of four members of the household lying helpless on the terrace while parts of the collapsed verandah was resting on the balcony directly under it.

TRAGIC AFFAIR IN HAPPY VALLEY

A serious accident, attributed to the heavy rainfall on the previous afternoon, occurred on Saturday night when a second floor balcony of 15, Yuk Sau Street, Happy Valley, a newly built European style house collapsed shortly after 9.30 p.m. As the result, a Chinese amah, Ching Tai (31), was killed and a little girl named Jessie Housan, aged 11, succumbed to her injuries shortly after admission to the Government Civil Hospital. Her brother, Gordon (19), sustained injuries to the arms and legs and a younger sister, Ada (9) also received injuries to the limbs and body.

The incident is all the more sad as the parents of the injured children are not in the Colony at present, being away in the Fiji Islands, and that the lad had only just come home from school to spend his holidays.

Details Meagre.

Details of the tragedy are very meagre but a Daily Press representative who was on the scene almost immediately after learnt that the three children, together with the amah, had just returned from a cinema show and were in the verandah, enjoying the evening breeze. Suddenly, the floor of the verandah "folded over," throwing the four people onto the terrace some thirty feet below. Part of the balcony came down with a crash onto the first floor balcony and it was extremely fortunate that there was no one there at the time, otherwise they would certainly have been badly injured.

Ching Tai received multiple injuries to her head, limbs and body and was in a very serious condition when picked up. She died shortly after.

Of the children, the elder girl was found to have sustained the most serious injuries and little hope was held for her recovery despite all that medical aid could do for her.

Dr. Li Sung who lives in the next house was on the scene almost at once and after he had given the Ichang, May 24.

The s.s. Ming Chu came here laden with ammunition and military gear said to have come from Nanking. She was destined for the Szechwan War Lord, Lin Hsiang. At Wanchien, General Wang Fang Chen, invited the guard of sixty men in charge of the cargo, to a dinner. While they feasted the ship was unloaded and the military stores transferred to General Wang's depot.

The guard have wisely not gone on to Lin Hsiang at Chungking, but are still enjoying the hospitality of General Wang. How will it end is the question that interests us.

English v. French Cookery.

The great chef, Louis Eustache Ude, who served that famous epicure the Earl of Salford for over twenty years, and was pensioned by him (afterwards becoming high priest at Crookford's), used to admit that some of our national dishes were the envy of the world.

The first Earl of Dudley always maintained that a good soup, a small tartlet, a neck of venison, and an apricot tart constituted a dinner "fit for an emperor."

Righteous Indignation.

At supper many people were astounded that the great dining saloon could accommodate all the guests for supper at a single sitting. But a lady horrified the gymnasium instructor, temporarily turned wine steward, by commenting adversely on some of the pictures.

They were, he pointed out proudly, part of the ship's permanent exhibition valued at £125,000!

From the deck guests could see signs of the effect which cruising is having on shipping policy. Even the gallant old Mauretania was being painted white in readiness for participation in that business.

When Shaw Broadcasted.

One of the disadvantages of a wireless programme, from the listener's standpoint, is that—like the man in the pew, at church—he cannot answer back. Mr. Bernard Shaw's broadcast speech in the United States evoked, however, a few retorts by telephone. Here are some of the protests: "Turn him off and give us a regular programme." "It's an insult to the foreigner to knock the United States." "If Mr. Shaw doesn't like this country, why doesn't he stay home?" "It's a disgrace for a nice station to broadcast such a speech." "He doesn't even pronounce his English right." "A few minutes of his bunk is enough." "And the final denunciation was: "That man even makes my baby cry."

Some say that there are no longer any real gourmets left in England. Yet it is certain that a few of the elect of London Society have felt a thrill in learning that the new French Ambassador is to be accompanied by his faithful chef.

Seventy years ago, when Abraham Hayward (Dickens's hated critic) was able to stir society by his brochure on "The Art of Dining," London would have leapt at this announcement, and one of the questions immediately asked would have been, "Can he cook green goods?"

The insertion of this item in the menu for the dinner given to Lord Chesterfield by thirty of his friends on his quitting the office of Master of the Buckhounds was supposed to be the Count d'Orsay's master-stroke.

Mr. Lu Hsueh Pu, director of the Central Mint, interviewed by members of the Chinese press, denied the press report that he had been appointed the Customs Superintendent for Foochow.

Dr. Hu is the chairman of the Chinese delegation to the conference.

The Japanese Government has decided to dispose of its old rice holding and will buy new crops in the markets of Tokyo, Osaka, and several other cities. The volume of selling will be 240,000 koku. The selling will be on some time ago, but one of this amount, the Government has already sold some 280,000 koku to meet the food shortage in the Hokkaido and Taihoku districts.

General Ma is proceeding to Shanghai and refused a pressing invitation to visit Canton. He was not certain whether or not he would go to Nanking to report events in Heilungkiang as there was not much to report apart from the defeat of his troops.

Mrs. "Alice in Wonderland."

Mrs. R. G. Hargreaves (Alice Liddell), the original of Alice in Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland," has been chosen to unveil a memorial to the author at Llandudno in August. A fund for the erection of the memorial, which will be a six-foot marble pillar, complete with "the rabbit with pink eyes," has just been started, and children are to have an opportunity of contributing their pennies.

Enthusiasts to the Last.

But have we such enthusiasts today as that Irish peer who, when dying, summoned his heir to his bedside to tell him a secret which would compensate him for the wretched, dilapidated state of the family property? It was, briefly, "Orab sauce is better than lobster sauce." Then there is the story of the London epicure who was similarly summoned many years ago by an old major (who had been with the 13th Light Dragoons at Balaklava) in order to tell him how "to do mutton so that it should taste exactly like venison."

Dancing in Harbour.

A great charity ball was given last month in the Majestic, as the lay at Southampton docks. The experiment was a great success, both in the numbers it attracted and in the novelty of the entertainments in the offered. Distance, nowadays, has lost its terrors, and it was most revealing to observe how many parties had motored down from London.

Few hotels on land can boast a ballroom the size of that carried by the world's largest liner. Few dance organisers can offer, as an added inducement to purchase tickets, that bed and breakfast, plus a dip in the swimming pool, will be included in the programme.

Procedure at the World Conference.

The World Economic Conference is sufficiently near and the programme at the opening will probably be as follows:—

The delegates of the 84 or 86 countries will each make a speech setting out his nation's views about the objects of the Conference, the things necessary to be done, and the order in which they shall be done. Two weeks will be required for this second-reading debate, as we should call it in England. Then committees of experts will be set up and each committee allocated a particular problem before the Conference. These committees, our foreign visitor thinks, will continue to work on their different problems, until the beginning of October, by which time they could be expected to be in a position to make some recommendations to the Conference as a whole.

Immediately the Conference would take up the discussion of these recommendations. This would be the crucial work of the conference and might be expected to go on through October and November.

A fine of $150 or three months hard labour was the sentence imposed by Mr. Schofield on a Chinese woman who was convicted for keeping disorderly home at 52 Hennessey Road. CHINESE TRADE IN SINGAPORESTARTLING FIGURES RE-VEALED BY SUNDRY
GOODS DEALERS

SINGAPORE, May 20.

Startling figures were disclosed by the Chinese Sundry Goods Dealers' Association of Singapore last week. The members of the society are dealers in preserved Chinese delicacies such as canned fish, dried oysters, oyster sauce, salt fish and bean condiments, imported from China. They also import other foodstuffs to the value of millions of dollars every year, besides paraphernalia for religious purposes.

The association's report states that the total volume of business done in 1932 showed a drop of over sixty per cent., that is a difference of four million dollars a year. The drop has been mainly due to the lessened buying power of the mining and rubber estate colonies who used to depend largely on preserved food from China for their nourishment.

It is hoped that within another five years the worst of the Shikave slum district of Kobe will have

H.M. THE KING'S BIRTHDAY

PICTURESQUE CEREMONIAL IN LONDON

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

KING GEORGE IS 63 TO-DAY

He is spending his birthday at Buckingham Palace. Although his general health is excellent, rheumatism in his shoulder makes it difficult to ride a horse or to wear full dress uniform without discomfort and, for this reason, the Prince took his place at the annual birthday ceremony of Trooping the Colours on the Horse Guards Parade.

The Prince was attended by his brothers the Duke of York and the Duke of Gloucester, Prince Arthur of Connaught, Lord Harewood and the Earl of Athlone.

ATTEMPT TO FLY ROUND THE WORLD

U.S. AIRMAN TAKES OFF FOR IRELAND

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

NEW YORK, June 3. LIEUTENANT James Mattern, the well-known United States airman hopped off from here this morning at 4.30 a.m. for Newfoundland, from where he will begin a round-the-world solo flight. His first stage is across the Atlantic, to Ireland.

Last year Lieut. Mattern and Captain Bennett Griffin left Harbour Grace in an attempt to fly round the world. They crossed the Atlantic in 10 hours 50 minutes. They left Berlin the same night for Moscow, but made a forced landing at Minsk. The plane was wrecked and the occupants slightly injured.

PLANE SIGHTED OVER COUNTY CLARE

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, June 4. THE airman Lieut. Mattern was sighted over County Clare, Ireland, to-day.

Report Not Confirmed.

LATER. THE earlier report that Lieut. Mattern was sighted over County Clare has so far not been confirmed.

FINANCIAL CRISIS IN GERMANY

MORATORIUM ON FOREIGN DEBTS TO BE DECLARED

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

BERLIN, June 2. A MORATORIUM for all of Germany's foreign debts will be announced shortly after Whit Sunday, stated Dr. Schacht, President of the Reichsbank. The importance of Dr. Schacht's statement in regard to a moratorium of Germany's foreign debts is shown in the fact that the total debt involved is estimated to be some 20,000,000,000 marks (£1,000,000,000 sterling), on which service charges, totalling about £25,000,000 fall due in the current year.

Biggest Creditor.

The United States is the biggest creditor with a total of 8,016,000,000 marks. Holland is next with 3,497,000,000 and Britain with 2,231,000,000.

Trade Shrinkage.

The present difficulties are due to the tremendous shrinkage in Germany's foreign trade. The Reichsbank's note cover is only 8.3 per cent. as compared with the normal legal minimum of 40 per cent. An official statement has meanwhile been unanimously approved by the conference of the Anglo-American and other foreign bankers on the service of Germany's foreign debt.

It agrees with the desirability of gradually increasing the Reichsbank's reserves of gold and foreign currencies. It recognises the declining surplus from Germany's foreign trade and services which necessitates consideration of protection and the extension of Germany's reserves and foreign exchange.

Only Solution.

The conference announces that a small permanent group representing the long term creditors will keep in contact with the Reichsbank.

Similarly, the short term creditors will be able to maintain contact through the "Standstill Committee." The statement also says that ultimately these large international debts can be settled only with the movement of goods and the removal of services.

It assumes that one of the most important and urgent objectives of the World Economic Conference will be to facilitate a prompt and permanent solution of the German transfer problem.

LATER.

While Dr. Schacht has not actually stated there will be a moratorium on foreign debts.

loudly cheered on his arrival and departure.

This year the King's colour of the Third Battalion, Coldstream Guards was trooped and the brigade of Guards with their massed bands and Household Cavalry performed the complicated and picturesque ceremonial with the superb precision for which they are so famous.

H.M. the King, in a light grey lounge suit and white Panama hat, stood at an open window in Buckingham Palace and watched his son, the Prince of Wales, ride down the Mall to represent him at the ceremony.

TAIKOO WINS AT HOME FROM CIVIL SERVICE: RECREIO ACCOUNTS FOR POLICE

CRAIGENGOWER'S NARROW WIN OVER KOWLOON DOCK IN LOW SCORING GAME

The lawn bowls fixtures on Saturday resulted in a number of surprises, the chief of which was the defeat of Civil Service C.C. at the hands of Tai Koo, the latter team playing at home and winning by 18 points. The Club de Recreio surprise the Police at King's Park by winning with 27 points to spare while Craigenower C.C. had a big fright on their home rinks when Kowloon Docks put up a dour struggle but missed sharing the honours by a matter of three points. The Kowloon Bowling Green inflicted a heavy defeat on the K.C.C. on the former's rinks.

In the second division there was also one big surprise, the Yacht Club going under to the Police by sixteen points while Civil Service playing at home, almost obtained twice as many points as the Indian R.C.

SUSSEX CHECKED BY SURREY

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, June 2. Sussex received another setback in the race for championship honours when they lost to Surrey on the first innings, in their county championship match. FOUR SEARCHLIGHT TATTOOS

MAGNIFICENT MILITARY SPECTACLES

TO BE HELD IN ENGLAND THIS YEAR

Aldershot, Tidworth, Woolwich and York are busily putting the finishing touches to the great military spectacles with which to delight the yearly increasing number of visitors who throng some of the finest pageantry it is possible to see.

THE ALDERSHOT TATTOO
Rushmore Arena, Aldershot, June 10 and 13-17.

Known far and wide as Britain's premier military tattoo, this Aldershot Tattoo is not one whit less spectacular than its predecessors. Indeed, the most magnificent mounted display ever seen in Great Britain is promised by one of this year's episodes, in which 300 mounted men will take part.

The Royal Horse Artillery with their guns, Lancers, Hussars, Carabiniers and Inniskilling Dragoon Guards, in pre-war full-dress kit, the brilliant reds and blues, greens and golds mingling and merging under the mellow radiance of the searchlights, carrying out daring evolutions at a dashing speed to the lively accompaniment of the Massed Mounted Bands.

A spectacular pageant of Ancient Chivalry introduces gaily caparisoned horses bearing armour-clad knights. Friend Jockeys, the renowned Cockney grocer Master of Foxhounds, makes his premier bow at this year's tattoo. With the famous "Cat and Custard Pot" well in the foreground, the celebrated M.F.H. assembles his hounds, led by the redoubtable James Pigg, and his field, headed by Mr. Barnington, Charlie Stobbs, the "Cut 'em down Captains," Soapy Spongers, Facey Rumford, Lucy Glitters and a host of others, under the autocratic eye of Mrs. Barnington, who graciously shares her barouche with the M.C. of Handley Cross, Captain Miserimus Doleful.

The costumes are produced from Leech's famous illustrations of "Handley Cross," and the canine actors are the Aldershot Command Dog-bounds.

A review of armaments introduces the flower of English chivalry in the 14th century when the Black Prince led his knights and sturdy bowmen to victory against overwhelming forces. Gorgeous period uniforms and costumes beneath the radiance of the searchlights lend point to the comparison with the khaki-clad soldier of today. The grim efficiency of modern mechanised warfare as seen at the Tattoo should serve as a powerful argument for world peace.

THE TIDWORTH TATTOO

Tidworth, Salisbury Plain, August 5 and 6-12.—On August 5, 8-12 the Army "Southern Command," which consists of the troops in the twelve counties in the South and West of England, stages its annual Searchlight Tattoo in the prettiest natural arena in England, an advantage exploited to the full by the ingenious use of searchlights and fireworks.

The Tattoo is a non-show, commencing at dusk, lasting two and a quarter hours. The whole performance is illuminated by Searchlights or Fireworks, and all events are accompanied by music. At times seventeen bands, mounted and foot, play together.

Variety is the keynote of the programme; Pomp and Pageantry, Drill and Daring, History and Humour, all play their part in a display which can only be staged at a great military Tattoo. The Tattoo has a great reputation for its music and for its mounted events.

Special rail excursions at very cheap fares are run from London, the Midlands, South Wales and from all over the South and West of England.

Travellers by coach or private car, by all routes, have a beautiful drive to Tidworth, which is near Stonehenge (1700 B.C.), the New Forest, numberless historical sites and remains, Salisbury, the Malchester of Hardy's Wessex novels, and handy to South Coast resorts—particularly to Bournemouth. From the South one travels through or past the New Forest; from the West the approach may be past Stonehenge; from the North via Savernake Forest, and from London and the East by excellent roads through attractive country. Parking is simplified and parks are very near to Arena. Special arrangements are made with the Traffic Commissioners, Police, R.A.C., etc. Bookings through the usual ticket agents or by post from Tattoo Box Office, Tidworth, Hants.

JOYS OF ANGLING

Colonel Macpherson's suggestion, at a recent Rotary Club tiffin, that a big game angling society should be formed in Hong Kong, is likely to have quite a few ardent supporters, since there are several keen fishermen in the Colony, though up to the present they have not sought such large prey as shark or tunny. The majority of local anglers have been content in the past with the carp and other fresh-water fish with which the reservoirs are stocked, or with the incredible species which are to be found in the Shing Mun River. The man who has been used to salmon fishing in Ireland or Scotland, however, or has played dilligently for trout in an English stream, is not likely to be enthusiastic over the very meagre sport which local fresh-water fish provide. If he retains his early love for rod and line, he will be much more inclined to experiment with bigger game such as that which Colonel Macpherson likes to pursue. For the benefit of those who have never sought fighting fish, we might explain that angling for shark or tunny is one of the most exciting sports that exist, requiring considerable skill and great physical strength. In fact, when Colonel Macpherson said that, in hunting big game fish one had to be as fit as though one were going to play two games of rugger and one of soccer in an afternoon, he was barely exaggerating, as those who have had any experience with fighting fish will know. Provided one has a suitable craft and the correct tackle and knows, moreover, the haunts of these fish, there is nothing to prevent anyone from adopting this most exhilarating of sports. There is a popular fallacy in this Colony that sharks are not to be found in local waters, whereas in actual fact they are to be met with in considerable numbers only a few miles outside Hong Kong. They seldom venture into the Harbour, but they have been seen in the shallows at Deep Water Bay and during the War, when the officers' children used to bathe there, the commanding officer used to station men at various points of the Bay to give warning if any sharks were observed. In Tolo Harbour, which is free of steamer traffic, sharks are fairly plentiful and in recent years several Chinese fishermen have lost their limbs whilst leaning over the sides of their sampans to haul in the nets; in fact, few Chinese will venture to bathe in those waters on account of the danger. Further north the shark is more plentiful and is quite common towards Bias Bay, where he is caught by Chinese and sold for about ten dollars apiece, according to size. The local shark is not a good specimen according to tropical standard and seldom exceeds ten feet in length, whilst he generally

P.I. INDEPENDENCE MISSION TO U.S.

DELEGATES VISIT HONG KONG ON WAY TO MANILA

Sixty members of the Philippine Independence Mission arrived in Hong Kong on Saturday on board the Lloyd Trestino liner, Conte Rosso. They will remain in the Colony about a week before returning to Manila. Most of the members have been in the United States for several months in connection with the Hawes-Cutting Bill for the Independence of the Philippine Islands.

The Hon. Manuel L. Quezon, President of the Philippine Senate and Chairman of the Nacionalista (Government) Party, is head of the delegation and members include the Hon. Sergio Osmena, President Protempore of the Philippine Senate, and vice-Chairman of the Nacionalista, the Hon. Manuel Roxas, Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Hon. Ruperto Montinola, Minority Floor Leader in the Philippine Senate and the Hon. Emiliano T. Tirona, Minority Floor Leader in the House of Representatives.

The Hon. Manuel L. Quezon, informed local pressmen that with regard to the Hawes-Cutting Bill, he would reiterate his previous statements to the effect that the Mission would, under no circumstances, advocate the acceptance of the Bill, either in its present, or in any other form.

"I stand firm on what I previously said," said the Hon. Mr. Quezon. "The Hawes-Cutting Bill is unacceptable to the people of the Philippine Islands, and we definitely stand against its acceptance in any form whatever."

"The sentiment of the people of the Philippine Islands was against the acceptance of this Bill before I left Manila, and I have no reason to believe that it has changed."

"The Mission has not yet formulated a report to place before the Legislature, and this will not be done until our return to Manila. Therefore I cannot make any statement at this juncture."

Mr. Quezon refused to either deny or affirm the report that he intended to resign on the question of Independence in order to get an idea of how popular sentiment stood.

"Wait and see," was his reply. Members of the Mission will be the guests of the local Filipino Club at a banquet to be held in their honour at the Peninsula Hotel this week.

puts up a poor fight once he has swallowed the hook. He usually has sufficient fighting spirit to enable one to play him for an hour or so when, growing tired of the struggle and gradually being drawn closer to the boat, he may be finally vanquished with a harpoon. Tunny provides far more exciting sport and the strength and resource of the angler to their utmost. They are also found in the vicinity of Bias Bay, particularly in the channels between the numerous islands along that part of the coast. In fact, no one who undertakes a fishing expedition to Bias Bay can have the slightest grounds for complaining that these waters possess no interest for the angler. A certain amount of organisation, as well as of knowledge of the territory, is necessary for such expeditions and the lack of these facilities has dissuaded many a potential fisherman from undertaking the project. For this reason an anglers' society would serve an extremely useful purpose. The authorities might even be persuaded to stock the Shing Mun dam with bass, carp, pike and other species of fish and this give further encouragement to those who take pleasure in angling.

NORTHERN COMMAND TATTOO

York Race Course, July 6 and 10-15.—The Massed Bands of a Cavalry Regiment and twelve Infantry Battalions, 2,000 men on horse and foot, a background of softly contoured hills, fanfares of 13th century trumpeters, drummers and fife-players of the days of William of Orange, a Cavalry ride with scintillating music, evolutions with innumerable lanterns, and last, perhaps greatest of all, a massed symbolical tableau, "St. George for England," promises to make this year's Northern Command Tattoo as bright and brisk an affair as ever was staged.

The way to the Race Course at York is easy. By reason of ample parking accommodation and the ever ready guides of the motoring organisations road travel will present no difficulties. Neither are railway facilities one whit behind, the railways running numerous excursions from all over the countryside. The Tattoo begins at 9.30 p.m., and ends at 11.50 p.m., but if you arrive at 8.50 p.m. you will be regaled by, and can join in to your heart's content, community singing.

SILK CAMPAIGN IN U.S.

NEW YORK, May 25.

It is reported from Yokohama that the Central Silk Association has decided to launch a three year promotional campaign in the United States spending $2,000,000 for the purpose. This announcement has been greeted enthusiastically by leading silk factors here.

While the proposal apparently requires the approval of the Japanese Government, local interests assume that this is certain to be forthcoming, probably at tomorrow's meeting of the Cabinet. Pending this approval Mr. Shiga, New York representative of the Japanese Government, would not comment and it remains uncertain whether the campaign will be launched in co-operation with existing agencies such as the Silk Association of America or through independent channels.

Mr. Henry Stehli, a prominent manufacturer, thinks that Japan will soon benefit from the decision.

Miss Kit Orpen, the younger daughter of the late Sir William Orpen, the famous artist, and of Lady Orpen, has become engaged to Mr. Barrie Seymour Nicoll, the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Nicoll, of Cavendish Road, St. John's Wood, London.

LEWIS STONE SCORES AGAIN

GIVES EXCELLENT PER-FORMANCE IN
"MEN MUST FIGHT"

Powerful acting by a cast who do their job thoroughly, characterizes
"Men Must Fight," one of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's productions now showing at the Queen's Theatre.

Dianna Wynward plays the female lead and a really good job she makes of her work too! She is supported by that past-master, Lewis Stone and one of Hollywood's most versatile "youngsters," Philip Holmes and between the three of them they make "Men Must Fight" one of the best talkies shown on the local screen for quite sometime.

Although the two young players
do their parts well, pride of place must go to Lewis Stone who as Edward Seward plays the difficult part of a very loving husband and "father" who at the same time does not allow duty to interfere with his domestic life. The plot is very well set, although in making the picture
the producers have rather looked ahead of time and the incidents in the film take place not in 1933 but in 1940!

Dianna Wynward is such a charming little lady that it makes one feel really sorry that more of her pictures are not shown here. She has that quality or charm and personality that insure success on the screen. Philip Holmes, of course we all know. His acting in "An American Tragedy" was good while critics described his effort in "The Man I Killed" as superb. I make bold to say that in "Men Must Fight" he has surpassed all his previous efforts.

The picture drew crowded houses
to the Queen's yesterday and I think I will not be very far out if I predicted "full houses" for it during the rest of its run—i.e., until Wednesday.

The programme opens with a very interesting Hearst Newsreel and a roaring Laurel and Hardy comedy entitled "Helphases."

THE COMING WORLD WAR!

TOKYO PROFESSOR ON THE GREAT ASIA LEAGUE

DENOUNCES THE "PRESUMPTIOUS WHITES"

Dr. Kongo Murakawa, a professor of Tokyo Imperial University, who is closely identified with the Great Asia League, says in the columns of the Kobe Yuhin
that the Great Asia principle aims, needless to say, at the revival of Asia. World history shows that Asia held her own against the West for many years, politically and culturally, making her own development in the meantime. It was only two hundred years ago that the West gained supremacy in the world, Dr. Murakawa says.

At present, about six-sevenths of the land surface of the world is under the rule of the Whites, notwithstanding the fact that their population is only one-third of the world population of some 2,000-000,000. They are exercising their absolute supremacy by no means in the ideal way. The growth of discontent and antipathy among the coloured races against the Whites all over the world is conclusive proof of this. In such a state of affairs, it is absolutely impossible for the fine dream of the League of Nations—the ideal of the permanent peace of the world to be realised.

Racial Discrimination.

At the Paris Peace Conference of 1919, Japan urged the abolition of racial discrimination, and the enthusiasm this Japanese proposal evoked among the coloured races of the world at the time was, indeed, greater than the Japanese people could imagine. To their keen disappointment, the proposal
met with a curt rebuff at the hands of the Whites. It is a matter requiring deep thought on the part of the Japanese people, the leader of the coloured races, why it was so unceremoniously waved aside.
The Westerners have the ingrained idea that the coloured nations are inferior to the White races. The League of Nations is intended for the maintenance of world peace
through the permanent guarantee of the supremacy of the Whites in the world.

Second World War.

The attainment of the aims of the League of Nations is possible only when the permanent guarantee of the White supremacy is universally recognised as just and possible, but it must be remembered that it is very presumptuous of the Whites to pose as superior to the coloured races. To look back on the 5,000 years' history of mankind, it will be seen that Asia,
not the West, was the source of world civilisation. For instance, it was Asia that produced, such great men as Confucius, Buddha, Christ and Mohammed. Even conceding the White supremacy to last permanently, a peace secured
on such a basis is no true peace.
True peace is possible only when
all peoples, irrespective of race,
are put in a position to live in common prosperity and to fulfil their respective cultural missions.
Manchuria.

The Manchurian problem was the first Far Eastern issue that the League of Nations handled and in its treatment the League most elo-quently betrayed its incompetence.

It was a tragic sight to see the League making desperate efforts to call in the aid of America and Russia, both non-League Powers,
in order to force its unreasonable will on Japan. It is the lofty mission of Japan, the only strong coloured nation in the world, to disillusion the Westerners who are obsessed by the notion that they can maintain their supremacy and uphold the peace of the world by enthralling the coloured peoples.
The world to-day, which is pregnant with a second world war,
can be reverted into the righteous
course only by Japan's stout pursuit of this mission.

The first requisite for this purpose is to awaken the Asiatic peoples who are now in a disrupted and confused state so that they can co-operate with each other in the fulfilment of their respective missions. In this way, they will give the White nations no chance or occasion for entertaining ambitious designs. Permanent reproachment and friendship between Japan and Manchukuo can be secured only when it is made part of the proposed big Asiatic League.

Greatness of Japan.

A small periodical devoted to ideas similar to those which animate Professor Murakawa is now being issued in Tokyo by Rash Behari Bose, an Indian agitator,
now a naturalised Japanese.

In the first number, Mr. Bose writes:—"Nothing has stirred the imagination of young Asia so much since the Russo-Japanese war as Japan's withdrawal from the League of Nations. Whatever may have been the motive which actuated her to adopt this course, the fact remains that her secession has dealt a staggering blow to this imperialistic organisation."

"Having illegally monopolised
all the good things on earth at the cost of the lives and liberty of millions of non-white peoples, the European Colonial Powers were in constant dread of retribution and mutual jealousy, eventuating in the last European war which proved too costly and weakened the victors and the vanquished alike.
Any one of them became powerless
to preserve her imperial interests single-handed, and thus the idea of the League of Nations originated to maintain the status quo and to avoid mutual competition. That which a single Power alone was not in a position to do could successfully be done by a combination.
The League was established not for the maintenance of the peace of the world but for the preservation of the interests of the Colonial Powers, as has been amply demonstrated by later events. Japan by severing her connection with such an unsavoury institution has really earned the gratitude of all Asia.
She may lose the doubtful goodwill of her erstwhile colleagues of the League, but she has gained the sincere friendship of millions of non-white peoples."

THE NORTHERN ARMISTICE

MAY LEAD TO RECOGNITION OF MANCHUKUO

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

LONDON, June 2.
EXPRESSING the opinion that the Japanese have adopted a wise policy in signing an armistice,
the Week-End Review says that the watchword is peace and goodwill until further notice.

If the formula works, an attempt to coax some sort of recognition of Manchukuo out of at least some of the Powers may soon be expected.

British opinion will be on guard against this transparent strategy
but at the same time, following the Lytton Report, it will appreciate the importance of finding some better basis than at present exists for Japanese economy and population as a condition of settled peace in the Far East.

The Spectator considers that Nanking's recent futile armed resistance has been no more than a gesture for the benefit of Chinese public opinion.

SENATE PASSES GOLD BILL

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

WASHINGTON, June 4.
The Senate by 48 votes to 20
passed the Gold Bill, which now goes to President Roosevelt.

PROPOSED FOUR POWER PACT

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

ROME, June 2.
A CRITICAL stage has been reached in the negotiations of the Four Power pact.

While no official confirmation is obtainable it is believed that Signor Mussolini has informed France that her demands regarding the rigid control of future
German armament construction are not acceptable.

The French reply is anxiously awaited, as it is understood that Mussolini intended to make an important statement in reference to the Pact in the Senate tomorrow.

It is now announced that the Senate will not sit to-morrow, suggesting that Il Duce does not expect to be in the position to make a statement before Monday.

GENEVA, June 4.

THE British delegation to the Disarmament Conference today announced that the Paris discussions between French, British and United States statesmen with reference to the present position of the Conference has been postponed until Thursday.

SIAM'S INTERNAL LOAN

EXPENDITURE ON PUBLIC WORKS

BANGKOK, May 31.

Subscription for Siam's first internal loan of ten million teals opened on May 15, and in the first seven days over five million was subscribed in Bangkok, and the amount applied for in the provinces was not then known. It is thought the loan will fill, but the applications from companies and private individuals have not been quite so ready as was hoped in some quarters.

Of the ten millions, four are already earmarked to repay monies borrowed earlier from other sources
for capital expenditure on railways, irrigation, waterworks, posts and telegraphs and co-operative credit. Of the remaining six million free money of the present loan, railways, for capital works, are to receive 2.5 million, irrigation 1.4 million, and state highways 1.1 million.

Nearly the final million available is divided between telephones and wireless, commercial aviation and co-operative credit. And when this is all expended, (and few believe it is enough for the country's needs), there will have to be another loan.

In March this year the Government redeemed in Loan the balance of the £2,000,000, 7 per cent. loan (about £1,900,000, of which was outstanding), and in re-borrowing now about half that sum at 4 1/2 per cent.
have followed the example of other governments, the world over, in this era of cheap money.

OPPORTUNITY

COME TO TEACH

COME TO LEARN

From July 17th to 22nd, there will be assembled in London at Olympia... the greatest Exhibition Hall in the world... the most modern Advertising and Marketing knowledge and material ever collected beneath one roof.

You will learn how scientifically applied advertising in the Home country is revolutionising production and sales quotas. Inevitably you will 'pick up' much to adopt and adapt to your own specific 'local' purposes.

You will have something of supreme value and interest to offer the Home Manufacturer and Advertising Agent in the Empire Section of the Exhibition: your account of conditions overseas,
of the trade crosscurrents that affect your marketing schemes, and the methods you employ to overcome vital sales problems.

At the Great Convention based on "Advertising and World Recovery," men of practical experience and seasoned outlook will debate on matters of major interest concerning selling and publicity...
every phase of which will be dealt with fully and authoritatively.

Come with your experience. It is the primary purpose of the Exhibition that by personal contact and by mutual exchange of opinions with Principals we may both teach... and learn.

CEYLON TEA BEATEN

INDIA'S GAINS IN THE U.S.A.

For the first time in tea history, the imports of India tea into the United States of America have exceeded those of Ceylon tea.

This fact is disclosed by statistics compiled for a period of nine months ending March 31, 1933. The comparative figures are as follows:—

	1932	1933
Ceylon	19,183,317 lbs.	16,426,110 lbs.
India	16,913,361 lbs.	17,173,343 lbs.

For the corresponding nine months five years ago, the Ceylon tea imported by the U.S.A. totalled 20,219,314 lbs., whereas India tea amounted to only 13,620,305 lbs.

Directed by a Ceylonese. The gains made by India at the expense of Ceylon are attributed to the success of the propaganda campaign carried out by the Indian Tea Bureau, which, ironically enough, is directed by a Ceylonese, Mr. L. Beling.

Mr. Beling first went to the United States in 1923, when he was associated with Ceylon's exhibit at the Chicago World's Fair. His official connection with Ceylon tea was again revived when the last Ceylon Commissioner, Mr. W. A. Courtney, engaged him as tea expert in 1928. Mr. Beling also had been associated with several New York tea firms.

In 1927, the Indian Tea Cess Committee appointed Mr. Beling its agent in the United States.

A Lesson for Propagandists. With the month of March the India Tea Bureau rounded out the fifth year of its campaign to promote the consumption of India tea in America. A survey and analysis of the Bureau's work and achievements, in its efforts to make America "India tea conscious," discloses that under the direction of Mr. Beling a record has been hung up that is unique among tea propagandas, states the "Tea and Coffee Trade Journal."

It is the story of a merchandising idea, in which newspaper and periodical advertising, cooking schools, motion pictures, radio, home makers' educational service, expert tea blending, original packet designing and dealer's aids, associated with the Map of India trade mark design, were co-ordinated in a well-rounded campaign. It makes inspiring reading and contains a lesson which propagandists in general may study with interest and profit.

The two outstanding results of the campaign have been the winning of 175 brands of tea for the Map of India emblem and an increase in the imports of India tea to the United States of over 4,000,000 lbs. The growers of India tea have been making propaganda for their product in America for many years, but nothing approaching the intensive advertising and salesmanship methods which characterize the latest campaign have ever before been attempted in America by any tea or coffee country.

MONEY FOR TURKEY

STRONG FRENCH BID FOR FRIENDSHIP

Paris.—Following her traditional policy of utilizing her great financial resources for strengthening her foreign political position, France is making a strong bid for Turkey's amity.

According to the usually well-informed industrial organ L'Usine, a French syndicate has offered the Turkish government a credit of 800,000,000 francs or 50,000,000 Turkish pounds at a very low rate of interest, and with a long period of amortization, the credit to be used for the industrial development of Turkey as well as for the payment for orders of railway equipment and war-material to be placed with French firms.

Asia Lands, Limited, has received the following report from their New York correspondents, E. A. Pierce & Co. We think, for the time being at least, it would be wise to defer additional buying. Frankly we do not altogether like the looks of the market. The weakness of the stock market has influenced commodity prices. Wheat: Professional operators and commission houses have been the chief sellers but scale-down orders offered fair resistance. Washington reports that the Farm Relief plan will not be effective this season had little effect. Cotton: There was liquidate and Southern selling throughout the day. Silver: The Trade and New York banks caused the decline and delayed buying was not aggressive.
